

CAT 2025

Disclaimer for CAT 2025 Mock Test Link:

The Mock Test contains selected questions from previous years' Common Admission Test (CAT) papers, with the aim of familiarizing candidates with the different types of questions generally asked in CAT (MCQs/Non-MCQs) and the exam interface. The Mock Test has a total duration of 120 minutes for non-PwD candidates, with 40 minutes allocated for each of the three sections, based on last year's pattern. The purpose of this Mock Test is not to reveal the exam pattern for CAT 2025. The number, type, pattern of questions, as well as the sequence and timing of sections in the Mock Exam, are only indicative and may vary from year to year as decided by the CAT authorities. Please note that CAT 2025 will also have a total duration of 120 minutes for non-PwD candidates, with 40 minutes for each section. PwD candidates will receive an additional 40 minutes of extra time.

For the Mock Link, the Submit button has been enabled for each section. This is to help a candidate proceed to the next section even before the allotted 40 minutes have elapsed. In the actual exam, a candidate can go to the next section ONLY after 40 minutes.

Five jumbled up sentences (labelled 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5), related to a topic, are given below. Four of them can be put together to form a coherent paragraph. Identify the odd sentence and key in the number of that sentence as your answer.

- Animals have an interest in fulfilling their basic needs, but also in avoiding suffering, and thus we ought to extend moral consideration.
- Singer viewed himself as a utilitarian, and presents a direct moral theory concerning animal rights, in contrast to indirect positions, such as welfarist views.
- He argued for extending moral consideration to animals because, similar to humans, animals have certain significant interests.
- The event that publicly announced animal rights as a legitimate issue within contemporary philosophy was Peter Singer's Animal Liberation text in 1975.
- As such, we ought to view their interests alongside and equal to human interests, which results in humans having direct moral duties towards animals.

Question No. 10

There is a sentence that is missing in the paragraph below. Look at the paragraph and decide where (option 1, 2, 3, or 4) the following sentence would best fit.

Sentence: Understanding central Asia's role helps developments make more sense not only across Asia but in Europe, the Americas and Africa.

Paragraph: The nations of the Silk Roads are sometimes called 'developing countries', but they are actually some of the world's most highly developed countries, the very crossroads of civilization, in advanced states of disrepair. (1) These countries lie at the centre of global affairs: they have since the beginning of history. Running across the spine of Asia, they form a web of connections fanning out in every direction, routes along which pilgrims and warriors, nomads and merchants have travelled, goods and produce have been bought and sold, and ideas exchanged, adapted and refined. (2) They have carried not only prosperity, but also death and violence, disease and disaster. (3) The Silk Roads are the world's central nervous system, connecting otherwise far-flung peoples and places. (4) It allows us to see patterns and links, causes and effects that remain invisible if one looks only at Europe, or North America.
